

16 Years

My latest sculptures are an amalgamation of my interest in biology, sociology, chemistry, and the nature of time. These sculptural investigations relate to my personal experiences with genetics, pharmacology and it's industries. These are simple yet complex three-dimensional renderings of objects created from images found on websites like Wikipedia and Google.

Brian Nelson